Soledad High School Student Attendance and Tardies

Being at school every day, on time, causes students to be more successful. Being on time is an important life skill. Our counselors greet students in the morning and track tardies. Our academy leads work with academy teachers to assure students are supported, and learning in order to develop academics and life skills. Administration works with parents, families, and the attendance office to determine how to increase attendance and being on time. Students who are tardy in the morning are given lunch reflection so they are able to consider how to alter their morning habits in order to be on time each school day.

What patterns do you see? How might we decrease tardies and increase on-time behavior?
