PBIS Announcement

This year teachers, parents, administrators, students, and staff at Soledad High School will be learning about an approach to positive campus behavior. Positive Behavioral Management and Supports (PBIS) is a program designed to build positive expectations for student behavior and support the students in meeting those high expectations. Members of our school community will attend trainings, alongside school personnel from around Monterey County to learn how to build a site team, identify our school's needs and priorities, and work with our entire school community to create a system that fits our vision for a culture of positive behavior throughout our campus. Some of you may have already been invited to be part of this process. If you are interested in helping us, please contact Mr. King or Mr. James.

In the Classroom

By Mr. Graham

Seniors are currently focusing on fine tuning the skills that will be necessary for them navigating their post-high school careers, including narrowing down college and career options. Their current unit will culminate with them composing personal essays and cover letters that they will be able to use not just for a grade, but for college and work applications as well. Using the English Department's newly adopted digital textbook, my Sophomores are analyzing various writing techniques that authors use to gain a reader's attention, and how they can apply those very same techniques to their own writings. Like the seniors, they are achieving this by breaking down a text, discussing its finer points with their classmates and improving their written and verbal communication skills. Last but not least, in order to build upon last year's book, the yearbook staff is currently deciding and debating an inclusive theme that not only represents the entire student body, but also highlights our pride in Soledad High
